DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's response filed 11/4/2004 has been received and considered. Claims 1-3 and 21-26 are pending. Claims 4-20 have been canceled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 26 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 26 the low and high speed operation ranges lack antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1,21,24-26 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kawamura in view of Costa and Japanese publication JP2001214269 (JP '269).

Regarding claims 1 and 21 Kawamura discloses a damper for the front fork of a motorcycle comprising a slide pipe 4 within a tube 3, and upper and lower guide bushes 5-7 and the oil seal at 11.

Kawamura lacks a discussion of using PTFE coated bushings and providing an amorphous hard carbon film layer on the outer surface of the slide pipe.

However PTFE type bushings (coated or otherwise) in these applications are notoriously well known in the art. See Costa col 4 line 63 bushing 128..

Also, it is known to provide the sliding tubes in motorcycle front forks with anti-friction elements such as the multiple slide bushings and quite possibly the collar at 8. Other elements are often used in this area, as is known in the prior art.

The reference to JP '269 teaches such an amorphous hard carbon film for good wear resistance and lubricity in sliding parts. Such an idea is also well known in the art.

One having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention would have found it obvious to have modified the device of Kawamura, in accordance with the collective teachings of Costa and JP '269, to provide the device with better wear resistance.

Regarding claims 24-26 these limitations would have been obvious dependent upon the well known engineering tradeoff between desired resistance to wear, and absorber operating characteristics, but also longevity of the protective layer.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 2,3,22,23 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

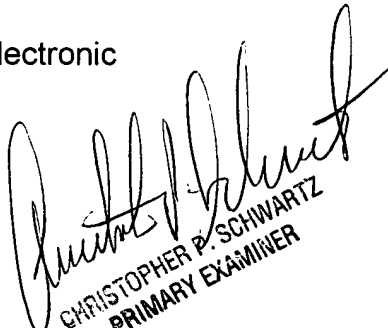

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Applicant's should carefully review all of the references of the prior art of record. Please note the publication to Wada, which has not yet matured into a patent.
